THE REALITY OF LIVING WITH ADHD

Andrea Bilbow*

Abstract

Over the years, the UK Attention Deficit Disorder Information and Support Service (ADDISS - www.addiss.co.uk) has undertaken several family surveys that give a clear picture of what it is like to live with attention deficit hyperactivity disorder (ADHD). We believe that our role is to bring the reality of the condition to the foreground, and would therefore like to share some of the results of our research in this article.
